

Introduction

Hi! My name is Brid Erin and I'm running to be your First Year CSR. I'm currently 21 years old and am studying English Literature/Film and Television studies, but outside of my studies I also have a keen interest in Psychology as well as video games and, obviously, film and literature. I was born and raised in Glasgow into a tight knit family, and that's why the QMU appeals to me as it has such a strong sense of community that makes me proud to be a member of. If you happen to see me around campus, feel free to come and say hi!

Manifesto

The QMU is widely known for its inclusivity and openness to all students; and now more than ever it is important that QMU continues to be a welcoming, safe space for students. I want to ensure that you feel at home away from home, and you are provided the support that you need, as well as an amazing experience throughout your first year at university and as a member of the union.

As a union ran by students, for students, it is imperative that your voice should be heard, and as your first-year representative, I will make sure that this remains to be the case; Any ideas, concerns or even any assistance that you may need will not fall on deaf ears, and I will campaign for any changes, events or issues that are brought to me. It's your union, and so it's important to me that it's the union that you want it to be.

This year really has been like any other, and so I want to ensure that you still have an amazing experience during your first year at university by organising events online and in person when possible, and ensure there's a priority for weekly events, particularly online, so everyone has a chance to have the experience of being a part of the QMU community and spend time with your fellow students.

I'm excited to hopefully be given the opportunity to represent you, and continue to provide a safe, inclusive space for you all at the QMU
